

I do not at all care what the telemarketers want, I pay for my phone service not them and I'm the one who has to hear it ring and put up with repeated calls. I do not want the NJ law lessened in any way. If the law gets recinded anyway then these companies should have a limit on how many times they can call if a person does not answer or respond. It is not my affair that certain folks chose to start, manage, or work for a telemarketing company. That is my comment as a U S citizen. Liberty for the people not the businesses.
